Votes for Women: A Celebration of Heroines

"When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one portion of the family of man to assume among the people of the earth a position different from that they have hitherto occupied. We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men and women are created equal." [Be it] "Resolved: That it is the duty of the women of this country to secure to themselves their sacred right to the elective franchise." (Elizabeth Cady Stanton, 1848)

In 1894, Susan B Anthony predicted that once won, "everybody will think it was always so...They have no idea of how every single inch of ground that she stands upon today has been gained by the hard work of some little handful of women of the past."

The road to ratification was fraught with obstacles. It took seven decades to win ratification of the 19th Amendment, which prohibits states from denying women the right to vote.

The 100th Anniversary is the perfect time to memorialize the path to women's suffrage. York Diversity Forum is pleased to present "Votes for Women," a multimedia series looking at the struggles, triumphs, and heroines that led to securing women the right to vote.

Join us on November 10th for the series kickoff celebration with stories, food, and music at the Old York Museum Center, 4-6pm. Special program begins at 4:30. Don't miss it!
