

BOOK AND FILM SERIES

EXPLORING THE COMPLEXITY OF RACISM

Saturday, October 20

10:30 am

The York Public Library, in partnership with the York Diversity Forum, has been awarded a Maine Humanities Council grant to support the upcoming book and film series “Exploring the Complexity of Racism.”

For this first meeting, participants are asked to read James Baldwin’s “The Fire Next Time”.

Ron McAllister will lead this first book discussion. All books in the series will be available from the Library and through the Minerva library system.

Space may be limited. Sign-ups are on a monthly basis.

Please register at the Library:

207. 363. 2818 or
ypl@york.lib.me.us

York Public Library 15 Long Sands Rd. York, ME 03903

BOOK AND FILM SERIES

EXPLORING THE COMPLEXITY OF RACISM

Saturday, November 17

10:30 am

The York Public Library, in partnership with the York Diversity Forum, has been awarded a Maine Humanities Council grant to support the upcoming book and film series “Exploring the Complexity of Racism.”

For this meeting, participants are asked to read:

“Our Nig; or, sketches From the Life of a Free Black”.

by Harriet E. Wilson; Edited, with a new introduction by Henry Louis Gates, Jr. and Richard J. Ellis

Susan Yorston will lead this book discussion.

All books in the series will be available from the Library and through the Minerva library system.

Space may be limited. Sign-ups are on a monthly basis.

Please register at the Library:

207-363-2818 or
ypl@york.lib.me.us

York Public Library 15 Long Sands Rd. York, ME 03903